The Central Coast Commission for Senior Citizens-Area Agency on Aging (AAA), the sponsor of the Santa Barbara County Senior Resource Directory, is a non-profit organization responsible for allocating federal and state dollars to local agencies to advance the development of a ‘senior friendly’ community throughout Santa Barbara County.

Services provided are funded by the Older Americans Act. This Act is designed to strengthen our community’s ability to address the needs of its older persons and the family caregivers of older persons.

The AAA is committed to the development of a home- and community-based system of care that will:

1. Secure and maintain maximum independence and dignity in a home environment for older persons capable of self care and appropriate supportive services;
2. Remove individual and social barriers to economic and personal independence for older persons;
3. Develop a continuum of care for the vulnerable elderly.

We are thankful to the organizations and businesses listed below for their generous financial support. This Directory would not be possible without their support.

In addition to the community’s financial support many individuals reviewed and updated the text of the Directory. This task can be quite laborious and I would like to extend a special thanks to those individuals who helped make the information as accurate as possible.

Additionally, the information from the Senior Resource Directory is available on the AAA home page (www.centralcoastseniors.org). This will permit you to secure updates from the home page and provide us with another communication tool.

Please let me know your suggestions to improve this directory.

The Santa Barbara County Senior Resource Directory is a community project with many people sharing their expertise and resources to help professionals, family members and older adults acquaint themselves with the many resources available within our community. Your generosity is greatly appreciated.

The Central Coast Commission for Senior Citizens, Area Agency on Aging is delighted to present the 2019/2021 Santa Barbara County Senior Resource Directory.

Santa Barbara County residents have access to a variety of services. It can be tough to determine what services you or a loved one needs and equally difficult finding the appropriate service. We wish the Santa Barbara Senior Resource Directory could answer all of your questions. We know it cannot. We hope the Directory simplifies your search, expands your knowledge, and ultimately ease the challenges experienced by you or a loved one.

The Directory lists nonprofit and governmental agencies offering services to seniors, with descriptions of services and benefits. The financial supporters include for-profit businesses; inclusion of a listing or information ad does not imply endorsement.

What are the right questions to ask? Who can help decide if a service will meet your needs? Will services be available when you need them?

It takes time and energy researching services. In the midst of a crisis is the most difficult time to assess a need and investigate resources. The Directory is an opportunity to get familiar with resources before a crisis hits.

Various factors play a role in establishing a service’s accessibility. Five important factors:

1. Determining the need.
2. Finding an appropriate service.
3. Eligibility requirements.
4. Waiting lists.
5. Cost.

Determining Your Need

When a problem exists, it may be helpful to talk with someone experienced in identifying specific needs to determine which could be helped by services. Most nonprofit agencies provide informal information and referral.

If there is more than one problem, define each problem individually. Often, one agency can’t provide the complete scope of needed services. You may obtain different services from various agencies.

Finding an Agency to Assist You

This Directory can help narrow down your choices. If you call an agency you think may help, and for some reason they can’t, ask for suggestions.

Senior Connection

A free, specialized senior information and assistance service of the Area Agency on Aging, Senior Connection assists with information, referral, follow up, and education. Call 800-510-2020, 805-965-3288 or 805-928-2552.

For any referral, call and explain the situation. If they can help, Great! If they cannot, ask for another referral. Also, call back Senior Connection for additional referrals.

There are other information and referral agencies. Contact the one addressing your needs.

Eligibility Requirements

Agencies have different eligibility requirements. The most common are age and income. ASK!

Some agencies provide services to people not on an benefit program, others require income below a certain level, and others don’t have any income requirements. Who may receive a non-profit’s services may be specified by the funder, or may be an effort to provide services to a specific population.

Find out exactly what income and asset information and documentation are needed.

If you are assisting someone, that individual may need to write a short letter authorizing you to act on their behalf. “Durable Powers of Attorney” and “General Powers of Attorney” are legal documents allowing an individual to act for another person. Both documents can be used only for specific reasons which are defined by law. Investigate before you proceed.

Waiting Lists/Denials

So you determine you’re eligible for a particular service and it will best meet your needs, the next question is: When can the service begin?

Our advice? If there is a waiting list, get on it. You may have to settle for another service that either costs more or does not quite meet your needs in the meantime. If you don’t need the service when your name comes up, they go to the next person. Don’t wait until the agency no longer has a waiting list. It may not happen.

If your health plan or an agency denies services, ask them about your right to appeal. If the denial regards a Medicare service, contact Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) at 800-434-0222 or 928-5663. All services funded by the Area Agency on Aging have a grievance procedure.

Cost

Cost will determine if you can afford a service. Some agencies have a set cost, no matter your income; others determine cost based on income; some services are free, and others—AAA funded programs (the Senior Lunch program is one example)—request only a donation. ASK!

Long Distance Caregiving

Most communities have a range of services available for seniors, but finding them can be a challenge for families who live out of the area.

ElderCare Locator is a free service to help locate specific resources for seniors. Call 800-677-1116 and ElderCare staff is available weekdays from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. (EST).

The California Department of Aging’s Senior Information Line’s number is 800-510-2020. It connects to the local information and assistance service.

Finding Reliable Information and Support on the Internet
Finding health information on the internet can be confusing but there are reliable websites that offer a wealth of good information. You can learn about a specific condition, the latest treatments and find support for your health concerns. Here are tips to help you get reliable information.

- Know who operates the website. Sites run by the government and nonprofit organizations are more objective than sites with a product to sell.
- Use sites where the information is written or reviewed by a qualified professional.
- Be wary of sites that have sponsors with a product to sell. Be careful of sites that have “pop-up” advertisements for medical products.
- Check the date. Medical information changes rapidly and if it is several years old it may not be current.
- Guard your privacy. Look at the home page for a privacy policy. Give as little personal information as possible.
- Seek a second opinion. Do not limit yourself to one source for health information.
- Share what you learn with your health care provider. He or she can help you to evaluate what the information means to you.

Caregiving for members of our family affects persons from all walks of life. Whether the care receiver is over the age of 90 or in the final stages of Parkinson’s Disease, has Alzheimer’s Disease or some other physical or cognitive impairment, the role of the caregiver is a challenge. While it is a privilege to accept the responsibility to care for our mother, uncle or sister, caregiving has inherent challenges and stresses along its course, from logistical (where care is most appropriate) and financial, to emotional and spiritual. Caregiving truly affects the whole person in ways that no book or article can fully explain.

This introductory page is meant to help the reader understand the impact of caregiving, learn how to recognize changes (in either the caregiver or care receiver) that may affect health and safety of both parties and discover how to address and access critical resources.

Taking care of yourself while caring for others
It is important to recognize the signs and symptoms of caregiver stress. This may include feeling overwhelmed and alone, isolated or deserted by others, sleeping too much or too little, gaining or losing a lot of weight, feeling tired most of the time or losing interest in activities you used to enjoy.

Caregiver stress may affect your physical and behavioral health. Studies show that stress can affect caregivers in a variety of ways. One may develop depression and anxiety, or a weakened immune system causing more sick days and slower recovery from illness. There may be an increased likelihood of obesity, especially in women, increased risk for chronic diseases, or problems with short-term memory or attentiveness skills.

Here is a message of importance to each and every caregiver. Make time for yourself - to take care of yourself! Exercise is important – and try to do this with others. Develop and nurture new friends and social activities. When safe and practical, get your family member moving - take a group exercise class, join a mall walking club or walk the dog together.

Your identity as caregiver needs to be recognized
Both federal legislation and good sense directs that the hospital consider the caregiver as part of the team. Many physician offices include the caregiver in the care receiver’s medical records and as part of the team. This is important for planning to meet care needs, such as bathing, eating and walking. It is imperative that the caregiver have access to appropriate medical records and information, so making this need known early in the caregiving experience is critically important.

If you are a working caregiver trying to balance employment and caregiving, ask your employer if they have any benefits that fit your needs. Is there paid family leave? Paid sick leave? Scheduling flexibility and predictability? Remember, getting adequate and timely support is dependent upon making your needs known early in the caregiving experience.

Assessing Needs
It is important to assess both the needs of the care receiver and the caregiver. This would include providing information and training about the tasks that the caregiver will be expected to complete. Based on the care receiver’s health condition and skilled care needs, perhaps training can be provided by a home health nurse or physical therapist, as ordered by the physician. It is important to inquire about all potential resources at the outset of becoming a caregiver, so that appropriate care is given and mishaps avoided.

Last, consider the issue of safety of the care receiver in their living environment. As physical conditions change, it is important to re-evaluate the physical environment. This can be done through a home safety evaluation which, with a physician’s order, can be conducted by a licensed physical and/or occupational therapist. They will help the caregiver evaluate the following: does the environment need to be adapted; are there tripping hazards; are any home or equipment repairs needed; is the house well lit, inside and out; is there clutter; is there carpeting or safety grips on stairs? Making needed modifications at the outset, or as needs change, will hopefully avoid injuries to the care receiver AND also help protect the caregiver.

Share Responsibility
Involving other people in the caregiving responsibility is a benefit for both the caregiver and the care receiver. This can be achieved by holding a family conference, obtaining professional guidance and using community resources.

Although care may be provided primarily by one person, all family members, friends and significant others should be involved in all aspects of caregiving. Make a list of current roles and responsibilities. It’s unlikely that caregiving roles can be evenly divided, but a thorough list will help you consider roles that match each family member’s preferences, resources, abilities and emotional capacity. Some might provide hands on care or make arrangements for the family member to move in with them. Others might be responsible for respite care, household chores or errands. Your family might designate someone to handle financial or legal issues. One person might research care facilities. Consider developing a Care Map.

Meet Regularly
Hold family meetings to discuss care and other relevant issues. By meeting regularly, you can address a few concerns at a time, avoid burnout and be more prepared for any changes in care. These can be done in person or via phone or video conference.

Invite everyone who is part of the caregiving team, including family, friends and other close contacts. When appropriate include the care receiver. If you can’t resolve disagreements, consider inviting a social worker or clergy member to help facilitate a meeting.

Create an agenda and share it before you meet. Make it clear that the goal of a meeting is to evaluate care and needs, identify problems and consider solutions. Be open to compromise and possibilities you hadn’t considered. End family meetings with a clear understanding of what has been agreed upon, what each person has agreed to do and what needs to be addressed in the future. You might create a summary of a meeting or an audio recording for family members who can’t attend. Being proactive rather than reactive can make the difference in the safety and well-being of all concerned. It may make the difference.

Remember that Hospice care is a valuable resource to both the care receiver and the caregiver and is also great source of comfort and support at end-of-life. This support will enhance the capabilities of all involved in the circle of care. Bringing in an objective third party may also help to deal with conflicts or stressful situations that might arise.

Securing professional advice and assistance can help reduce stress and ensure that the ‘best’ course of action is underway. Reaching out and getting support can help to ensure objectivity and a clear perspective and may also enable one to be a better caregiver.

Santa Barbara County is a community that is replete with many resources for caregivers. Check each section of this Directory to find resources that may fit the needs of the caregiver or care receiver.

Senior Safety Tips

There are people who prey on those who they consider more vulnerable, an easy target. Typically, women, youth, and often seniors are perceived more vulnerable as they are thought to be less likely to put up any resistance.

Prove them wrong. Use your awareness, your instincts, your wisdom to keep safe.

1. Learn how to use your voice loudly for your own protection. Call attention to the person and behavior. Criminals like to keep things quiet and secretive.
2. Know your routes. Know where you are going and how to get there. If you get lost, still maintain the look of knowing where you are going.
3. Act confidant, even if you are not. Eyes forward, shoulders up, walk like you have a purpose.
4. Let someone know where you are going and when you are expected home.
5. Lock your doors. Look inside your car and underneath it when you approach it.
6. Decide ahead of time if you give money to panhandlers. There is no wrong or right decision. If you choose to give, have some money readily available in your pocket, so you do not have to open your wallet or purse.
7. Trust your instincts. This is your early warning system. If it doesn’t feel right, it probably isn’t.
8. If someone wants your car, you’re safer letting them have it, than going along for the ride. They will never take you somewhere that is safer than where you start.
9. If you use a cane, walker, or wheelchair, learn how to use it to your advantage.
10. Decide ahead of time what possessions are worth physically fighting over. It is your decision. The important thing is to make the decision now of what you are willing to fight for.
11. If someone comes to your door and makes you an offer that’s too good to be true – it is. Don’t buy it. Don’t let them in. Get a good description and call the police.
12. You are as vulnerable in the daytime, as in the evening. Don’t fool yourself by letting your awareness slip, just because it is daytime or a familiar place or person. Most assaults happen between one and ten miles of your home or work, between 9AM and 5PM, and from someone you know, or knows you.

Free Annual Credit Reports

Under the Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act of 2003, all consumers are entitled to free annual credit reports from the three major credit bureaus: Equifax, Experian and TransUnion.

To order your free credit report, go to the government-mandated site:
www.annualcreditreport.com

If you do not have internet access, call 1-877-322-8228 to request your credit report.

Placing A Fraud Alert on Your Account

If you discover that someone else is taking out credit cards or loans in your name, immediately report the situation to the fraud units of the three credit bureaus. If you notify one bureau that you are a victim of identity theft, it is required to notify the other two bureaus. Ask that your file be flagged with a fraud alert. Add a statement to your report (“My ID has been used to apply for credit fraudulently. Contact me at [telephone number] to verify all applications.”)

Fraud alerts are placed in your file for 90 days, but you can extend the time period to seven years. You may cancel fraud alerts at any time.

Placing A Freeze on Your Account

You can also place a freeze on your account so that no further credit accounts can be opened in your name, contact each of the three credit bureaus and complete the required paperwork for a freeze to be placed on your account. A credit report freeze costs $10 (or $30 for all three credit bureaus). You can suspend the freeze with a few days’ notice if you are planning to seek additional credit yourself, but the cost is another $10 to each of the three bureaus to suspend the freeze. If you are a victim of identity theft, the freeze is free. If you are 65 or older, Experian and TransUnion will place a freeze for free, Equifax will charge $5.00.

ELDER ABUSE & CRIME

What is Elder Abuse?
The aging of our society presents challenges to many sectors of our community. Increasing numbers of older persons are being cared for in their own homes, where resources to provide sufficient care may be limited. Substantial portions of our elderly are being cared for by elderly children and spouses. Elder abuse is not a new problem.

Definitions
Abduction: removing a person from their state of residence or restraint from returning to their state of residence.

Neglect: Denial of food, clothing, shelter or health care or the inability to provide basic needs.

Mental Suffering: Infliction of mental anguish by demanding, name-calling, insulting, ignoring, humiliating, frightening, threatening, isolating, harassment or coercion.

Financial Abuse: Theft, misuse of funds or property, extortion, duress, fraud.

Abandonment: Desertion or willful forsaking of an elder by anyone having care or custody of that person under circumstances in which a reasonable person would continue to provide care or custody.

Physical Abuse: assault, battery, restraint, deprivation of food or water, over/under medication, sexual assault.

Isolation: Intentionally preventing an elder from receiving his or her mail or telephone calls. Telling a caller or prospective visitor that an elder is not present, or does not wish to talk or meet when the statement is false or is contrary to the express wishes of the elder, whether she/he is competent or not, and is made for the purpose of preventing the elder from having contact with family, friends or concerned people. False imprisonment. Physical restraint for the purpose of preventing the elder from meeting with visitors.

Self Neglect: The negligent failure of the person themselves to exercise the degree of care that a reasonable person in a like position would exercise. Includes: physical, medical care, health and safety, malnutrition and dehydration, financial.

Toward Prevention – for Individuals
Do’s
• Stay sociable as you age; maintain and increase your network of friends and acquaintances.
• Keep in contact with old friends and neighbors if you move in with a relative or change to a new address.
• Develop a “buddy” system with a friend outside the home. Plan for at least a weekly contact and share openly with a person.
• Ask friends to visit you at home; even a brief visit can allow observations of you well-being.
• Accept new opportunities for activities. They can bring new friends.
• Participate in community activities as you are able.
• Take pictures of all your valuables for your records.
• Check your credit report every year-review for any accounts you did not open
• Volunteer or become a member or officer of an organization. Participate regularly.
• Have your own telephone; post and open your own mail. If your mail is being intercepted, discuss the problem with postal authorities.
• Stay organized. Keep your belongings neat and orderly. Make sure others are aware that you know where everything is kept.
• Take care of your personal needs. Keep regular medical, dental, barber, hairdresser, and other personal appointments.
• Arrange to have your Social Security or pension check deposited directly to a bank account.
• Get legal advice about arrangements you can make now for possible future disability, including powers-of-attorney or conservatorship.
• Keep records, accounts, and property available for examination by someone you trust, as well as the person you or the court has designated to manage you affairs.
• Review you will periodically. Give up control of your property or assets only when you decide you cannot manage them.
• Ask for help when you need it. Discuss your plans with your attorney, physician, or family members.

Don’ts
• Don’t live with a person who has a background of violent behavior or alcohol or drug abuse.
• Don’t leave your home unattended. Notify police if you are going to be away for a long period.
• Don’t leave messages on the door while you are away.
• Don’t leave cash, jewelry, or prized possessions lying about.
• Don’t accept personal care in return for transfer or assignments of your property or assets unless a lawyer, advocate, or another trusted person acts as a witness to the transaction.
• Don’t sign a document unless someone you trust has reviewed it.
• Don’t allow anyone else to keep details of your finances or property management from you.

Abuse and/or neglect may be intentional or due to a caregiver’s lack of knowledge or capacity to care for the elder person. Working While Receiving Social Security

Work does not reduce your Social Security benefit if you have reached full retirement age. You may receive your full benefit without any limit on your earnings. In fact, continued work often increases your benefit since you are still contributing to Social Security. You do not need to report these earnings to Social Security.

If you’re younger than full retirement age, there is a limit to how much you can earn and still receive full Social Security benefits. If you’re younger than full retirement age, a deduction of $1 will be taken from your benefits for each $2 earned above $17,640.

If you reached full retirement age during 2019, the deduction will be $1 from benefits for each $3 earned above $46,920 until the month you reach full retirement age. Beginning with the month you reach full retirement age, no limit applies.

Questions can be answered by calling 800-772-1213 or looking online at www.socialsecurity.gov.

Avoid ID Theft

Identity Theft is a serious crime. It occurs when your personal information is stolen and used without your knowledge to commit fraud or other crimes. Identity theft can cost you time and money. It can destroy your credit and ruin your good name.

Detect identity thieves by safeguarding your information.

- Shred financial documents and paperwork with personal information before you discard them.
- Protect your Social Security number. Don’t carry your Social Security card in your wallet or write your Social Security number on a check. Give it out only if absolutely necessary or ask to use another identifier.
- Don’t give out personal information on the phone, through the mail, or over the Internet unless you know who you are dealing with.
- Never click on links sent in unsolicited emails; instead, type in a web address you know. Use firewalls, anti-spyware, and anti-virus software to protect your home computer; keep them up to date. Visit OnGuardOnline.gov for more information.
- Don’t use an obvious password like your birthdate, your mother’s maiden name, or the last four digits of your Social Security number.
- Keep your personal information in a secure place at home, especially if you have roommates, employ outside help, or are having work done in your house.

Detect suspicious activity by routinely monitoring your financial accounts and billing statements.

- Be alert to signs that require immediate attention:
  - Bills do not arrive as expected
  - Unexpected credit cards or account statements
  - Denials of credit for no apparent reason
  - Calls or letters about purchases you did not make

Planning Ahead

Talking about end of life is not easy, but making a plan in advance can assure that you will get the type of care you want and may also give you peace of mind. "Advance Health Care Planning" allows you to think about important issues when you don't need to make immediate decisions or aren't under great emotional stress. It is a gift to your family to let them know your wishes in advance of a health care crisis. In Santa Barbara County, your health care providers want to understand and honor your values and health care goals.

Some things to consider in having that important conversation with your family include:

- What type of medical treatment do I want or not want if I am critically ill?
- If it appears that I am at end-of-life, where do I prefer to die? At home, in a medical hospice environment or in a medical facility (hospital or nursing home).
- Who will be my caregiver? Family and friends or professionals, Do I prefer male or female, or are there other important considerations I want known about my caregiver/s?
- Who do I want to have with me? Do I want to be surrounded by family and friends or do I prefer privacy and quiet?
- Do I want to donate organs or donate my body to science?
- What kind of funeral or memorial do I want? Do I want it open to the public or just for family?
- Do I want to be buried or cremated?

One tool to help you make a plan is an Advance Health Care Directive. Its main purpose is to let you choose someone (our "agent") who will speak for you about your health decisions if you are too ill or injured to speak for yourself. When completed correctly, this legal document allows you to state what kind of treatment you want and don't want at end-of-life. It also enables you to give authority to your appointed agent to obtain information about your health issues, review care options and actually make decisions on your behalf.

If you like, you can include information about how you want to be remembered, what kind of memorial service you prefer, your instructions about organ donation and more. Although the Advance Health Care Directive is a legal document you can complete for yourself, your signature on the document must be witnessed by two people (special requirements must be followed) or notarized. A lawyer is not required. Copies of the completed document should be given to the appointed decision-maker (agent), primary care physician, hospital, and other appropriate family and health care providers. Accidents can happen, even to those who are in good health. If you are over the age of 18 it is a good idea to have an Advance Health Care Directive.

Physician Orders for Life Sustaining Treatment (POLST)

The POLST document should be completed by those who are frail (regardless of age), chronically ill, terminally ill, those enrolled in medical hospice care or are elderly. This document requires thorough discussion with one’s physician or health provider (Nurse Practitioner or Physician’s Assistant) at the time of completion. It enables the patient to be specific about end-of-life choices such as CPR, medical interventions, support for nutrition (such as feeding tubes for artificial nutrition), pain management and other treatments. Forms are available at many physician offices, local hospitals and licensed home health agencies and hospice organizations.

At the Time of Death

During the final moments, you may want to speak words of love, prayer or sing a favorite song to the dying person. You may want to call family, friends or someone from the faith community to be present. After death, responsibilities may range from preparing/blessing the body, calling the mortuary, notifying other family and friends, to arranging a memorial, dealing with finances, cancelling memberships and other practical "tasks." All of this is done while dealing with one’s own feelings of sadness and grief. It is helpful if there are significant others to help with these issues, so that no one person is over-burdened. Below is a helpful checklist which can be used as a guide.

Immediately:

✓ Arrange for organ donation. Plans should have been made in advance so that just a phone call is necessary, unless the death is sudden or unexpected.
✓ Contact family members
✓ Arrange for the body to be cared for, according to the person’s wishes. If there are no instructions, next of kin will most likely assume responsibility for decision-making.
✓ Consider funeral preparations. Follow the instructions of the deceased if possible, or consult with key family members.
✓ Choose a funeral home and meet with the director regarding a service, if desired. Be sure that the deceased has not already made advance funeral preparations.
✓ Contact the church, if appropriate.
✓ Notify close friends and extended family.
✓ Secure property – including home and vehicle. Assure that pets are cared for by someone.
✓ Notify the post office using the forward mail option.
✓ For a veteran, contact Veterans Affairs to inquire about participation in the service, if desired.
✓ Check with clubs, union or church of the deceased to see if financial assistance is available, if needed, for the funeral and burial (funeral home may be able to assist with this).
✓ Ask friends and relatives to help with the funeral. This may include serving as pallbearers, creating a program for the funeral, making and serving a meal after the service. Other needs might include care for children, pets, monitoring the home of the deceased and providing support to other family members.
✓ Publicize the date, time and location of the scheduled service.
✓ Keep track of well-wishers who send cards, flowers and donations so they can be acknowledged later.
✓ Prepare an obituary.

After the funeral:
✓ Get duplicate death certificates (five or more originals) for life insurance, banks, financial advisors, attorneys or others who may need verification of death.
✓ Send thank-you notes.
✓ Notify Social Security, who will notify Medicare.
✓ Stop health insurance, including Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage (Part D), Medicare Advantage (Part C) or Medigap if appropriate.
✓ Notify life insurance companies
✓ Meet with a probate attorney
✓ Make a list of important bills and prioritize by due date and order of importance.
✓ Contact financial advisors, stockbrokers, mortgage companies, banks, credit card accounts.
✓ Notify credit reporting agencies (Equifax, Experian and TransUnion). Follow-up in six weeks to check the deceased person’s credit history to ensure no fraudulent accounts have been opened in their name.
✓ Cancel driver’s license.
✓ Cancel email and website accounts.
✓ Cancel memberships such as clubs, professional organizations, gyms, etc.
✓ Contact an accountant for tax preparation.

MyCare
MyCare is the name of an Advance Health Care Directive produced by Cottage Health in collaboration with a number of other local health care providers. It is a clear, easy-to-complete document that allows you to appoint an agent to share your wishes and directions about your future health care with your loved ones and health care providers. It doesn’t require legal or financial experts, because the decisions are yours.

Key components of the document provide for the following:
• Selection of a person you trust to be your health care agent; someone who can make decisions for you should you become unable to and who would honor your wishes.
• Listing your instructions about your future health care so that everyone is perfectly clear about treatments you would want or not want provided.
• Completion of the document requires that it be witnessed by two persons (see document for exclusions) or have it notarized.

MyCare is available free of charge from Cottage Health, as well as from a number of other local health care providers (Alliance for Living and Dying Well, Sansum Clinic, Ridley-Tree Cancer Center, Hospice of Santa Barbara and Visiting Nurse and Hospice Care). The MyCare document can also be downloaded at cottagehealth.org/mycare website.

For further information, contact Advance Care Planning Services at mycare@sbcch.org or by calling 805-324-9102.

Other organizations have created Advance Health Care Directives. You may want to use one of these documents. For more information, contact Senior Connection at 800-510-2020.

END OF LIFE

Organ Donation

Organ donation is the process of surgically removing an organ or tissue from one person (the organ donor) and placing it into another person (the recipient). Unfortunately, the need for organ donors is much greater than the number of people who actually designate themselves as organ donors. Whole body donations are used for medical research and education. These donations can be made to medical schools or private organizations that distribute the bodies to institutions to be used in their research or for teaching purposes.

It is critically important that provisions for organ or whole body donation be made well in advance of a person’s death to eliminate any possible confusion or delay at the time of death. This choice should also be included in an Advance Health Care Directive.

One Legacy - A non-profit organization associated with the DMV “pink dot” on your driver’s license enabling organ/tissue donation to people awaiting transplants. The body is then returned to the family for burial/cremation.

UCLA Medical Center - A non-profit organization that accepts bodies from the Southern California area for local medical research and education. It is important to register for this program at the time you know this is your desired request. The body/cremated remains are not returned to family.

The End of Life Option Act is a California law that permits terminally ill adult patients with capacity to make medical decisions to be prescribed an aid-in-dying medication if certain conditions are met. Signed into law by Governor Brown in October 2015, the law went into effect on June 9, 2016.

To be eligible to request a prescription for the aid-in-dying drugs, an individual must:

- Be an adult (18 years old or older).
- Be a California resident.
- Have a diagnosis from his/her primary physician of an incurable and irreversible disease which will, within reasonable medical judgement, result in death within six months.
- Be able to make medical decisions for themselves as determined by health professionals.
- Voluntarily request a prescription for an aid-in-dying drug without influence from others.
- Be able to self-administer (eat, drink, and swallow) the aid-in-dying drug

The request must be made solely and directly by the patient to the attending physician, and cannot be made on behalf of the patient through a power of attorney, an advance health care directive, a conservator, health care agent, surrogate, or any other legally recognized health care decision maker.

Participation in the End of Life Option Act is voluntary for individual patients health providers (physicians, nurses, pharmacists, etc.) as well as health systems, HMOs, hospitals, medical offices, nursing homes, pharmacies and hospices. Insurance providers are not required to cover aid-in-dying drugs or related physician fees. Check with your health insurance company about their rules regarding costs associated with aid-in-dying drugs or related physician fees.

If the patient’s provider or the organization where the patient receives care is not participating in the End of Life Option Act, the patient may request basic information or ask for a referral. A valuable resource is Coalition for Compassionate Care of California, an interdisciplinary collaborative of regional and statewide organizations and individuals dedicated to promoting high-quality, compassionate care for everyone who is seriously ill or nearing the end of life.

Rehabilitative/Therapeutic Services

Rehabilitation centers provide professional restorative care designed to help people who have been disabled due to illness, accident, or injury.

Rehabilitation services fall into the following three categories: (1) in-patient hospital care; (2) out-patient care (the patient visits the facility for treatment but does not stay overnight.); and (3) in-home services (treatment is given in the patient’s home - patient must be “homebound”).

Medicare will pay for medical rehabilitation costs if the patient has the potential for rehabilitation, and certain types of skilled care are required. Medicare Part A covers services for in-patient and homebound persons; Part B covers 80% of out-patient costs. A physician’s referral is required.

Medicare covers the full cost of in-home visits by rehabilitation therapists when the patient is homebound, has rehabilitation potential, and the agency providing the service available is a Medicare Certified Home Health Agency.

Hearing
Since hearing loss may be related to a number of causes, it is good to begin with a visit to a licensed physician or a specialist in diseases of the ear for a thorough examination. An audiometric examination will be an important part of the procedure. In-depth audiological testing intended to evaluate the nature and degree of hearing loss is reimbursable by Medicare at 80% of the approved charges after the deductible has been met.

Medicare does not cover hearing aids or routine hearing examinations directly related to the prescribing, fitting, or changing of hearing aids. Medicare may cover hearing aid costs if a medical evaluation from a physician has been obtained, and if the need has been verified.

Medicare and some supplemental insurance policies will cover hearing testing by an audiologist and any medically necessary hearing aids. Check with a CenCal Health representative or with your supplemental insurance company.

Definitions
Ear, Nose and Throat (ENT) physicians specialize in the care of these areas of the body. Otolaryngologist and otorhinolaryngologist are also technical terms for ENT physicians. Audiologists have advanced training in testing and evaluation of hearing. They can prescribe individual hearing aids. Some audiologists also fill prescriptions for hearing aids.

Hearing Aid Company Representatives often offer free hearing tests; however, they are usually not audiologists.

Television Caption Decoding
Many prime time television programs are now produced with closed captions. Closed caption is written dialogue that can be read on the TV screen by those with serious hearing loss. The device can be purchased locally and attached to a TV.

Telephone Services

Deaf and Disabled Telecommunications Program is a service of the California Public Utilities Commission.

California Relay Service

Communicating with deaf and some hard-of-hearing people via a standard telephone can be difficult. Although many deaf and hard-of-hearing people have electronic telephone devices, referred to as TTY or TDD that allow them to type their messages to others with similar devices, few hearing households and businesses have the telephone equipment to communicate with those devices.

The California Relay Service addresses this need. Hearing callers trying to contact the deaf by telephone can call an operator who will assist with the call. The operator acts as a middleman in an otherwise normal telephone call. You talk to the operator, the operator types your dialogue, the call recipient reads the message and types a response and the operator reads the message to you. Using the system is simple.

Urinary Incontinence

An involuntary loss of bladder control, urinary incontinence is estimated to affect more than 20 million Americans. Unfortunately, most people who experience incontinence are either unaware that anything can be done, or are too embarrassed to seek help.

Incontinence is not a disease. Most incontinence can be cured or greatly improved after proper diagnosis. Many treatments such as bladder training, medications, pelvic muscle exercises, surgery and outpatient procedures involving collagen injections, have been successful in restoring and enhancing bladder control.

Incontinence is a symptom with many causes, so it is important to seek treatment from a physician who specializes in treating incontinence. For more information on incontinence and/or reference to a specialist in your area, call the Bladder Control Hotline at 800-BLADDER (800-252-3337).

Vision

Medicare is very specific about what it will and will not cover in the area of eye care and vision correction. Medicare does not cover routine testing directly related to the prescribing or fitting of eyeglasses, or the purchase of frames or lenses. Speak to an ophthalmologist or optometrist about conditions that are covered.

Medi-Cal and some supplemental insurance policies will cover vision testing and any medically necessary glasses. Check with a CenCal Health Beneficiary Representative at your nearest County Social Services office or check with your insurance company.

There is also a Glaucoma Program for those who have not had an eye exam in 12 months or more and are at increased risk for glaucoma, determined by age, race and family history.

Home Health Care
Home health agencies provide Skilled Nursing, Physical Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Speech Therapy and Home Health Aides as prescribed by a physician.

Home health agencies may be profit or nonprofit organizations. Some are hospital-based and serve as an outpatient extension for care needed at home after hospitalization. Others are free standing organizations. They must be licensed and certified by Medicare to entitle patients to receive benefits under Medicare and Medi-Cal. Medicare pays for home health services when the following conditions are met:

1. In need of skilled nursing or therapy services
2. Medical status qualifies him or her as homebound, simply meaning it is taxing to get out or can’t get out without help. Patients are still considered homebound even if they go out for medical appointments.
3. A face-to-face encounter related to the primary reason for home health occurs 90 days prior or 30 days after the start of home health care.
4. The home health agency serving you is certified by Medicare.

Medicare benefits for the homebound patient are paid for under Part A (Hospital). Medi-Cal also pays for some home health services provided by certified home health agencies. Discuss the benefits with the home health agency that you call.

A patient’s physician may make suggestions about a particular agency. Discharge planning departments in hospitals can also help with referrals. Even if a hospital has its own home health agency, you are not obligated to utilize it. The choice is always yours. Look in the telephone directory Yellow Pages under “Home Health Services” for a listing of private agencies or telephone Senior Connection at 800-510-2020 or 928-2552.

The Medicare.gov website also has a feature to compare Medicare certified home health agencies. This comparison include proprietary, non profit and government sponsored agencies.

Respite Care

Respite is that time when someone is available to take over the care of a frail, elder in order to give the main “caregiver” some relief. Respite can be provided in the home or outside the home.

A primary function of Adult Day Centers is to offer respite to caregivers. Hospice programs often provide respite care to the families of someone who is terminally ill. Some home health and homemaker services offer respite care. Ask at your doctor’s office, your church, or call Senior Connection at 800-510-2020.

Adult Day Care usually provides supervision, activities, meals, exercise and transportation to the site as well as providing counseling and time away from caregiving for the families. Community Based Adult Services (formerly known as Adult Day Health Care) also provides medical services and rehabilitative therapy for its clients. Both provide respite for caregivers.
EMERGENCIES are a fact of life in California. For example, the state is crisscrossed with numerous major active faults that cause earthquakes. As citizens of the state, we must assume the responsibility for our own survival and self-reliance during and after a major emergency. There are many things that can be done to prepare for a safer response and a more rapid, less traumatic recovery. During an emergency local officials and relief workers will be on the scene, but they cannot reach everyone immediately. You need to be prepared, because it could be hours or days before emergency assistance arrives. An emergency itself may not cause injury or death. Most casualties result from partial building collapse or falling objects, like chimneys, bricks, ceilings and light fixtures. Also, leaking gas and improper use of electricity can cause fires. Many of these conditions are easily preventable, and you should take steps now to help protect you and your family.

LEARN THESE IMPORTANT STEPS NOW – BE PREPARED IN CASE OF EMERGENCY
Develop a family or immediate neighborhood disaster plan and supply kit, addressing the items listed. Have an agreement with neighbors or friends to check up on each other in case of an emergency. Prepare yourself, your family, and your home by completing these following activities.

WATER
One gallon per person per day. Empty and refill with fresh water every six months. Use 2 liter plastic bottles. To purify water, add 1/8 teaspoon (or 8 drops) of regular unscented liquid household bleach for each gallon of water, stir it well and let it stand for 30 minutes before you use it. Store disinfected water in clean containers with covers.

FLASHLIGHT
plus extra batteries. Do not use matches or candles after a disaster until you are certain no gas leaks exist.

RADIO
Battery powered or hand cranked radio and extra batteries so you can stay in touch with the Emergency Alert System (EAS). Also consider a radio than can broadcast National Weather Service information

HYGIENIC SUPPLIES
Soap, toilet paper, moist towelettes, personal hygiene items.

FOOD
Non-perishable food for at least 3-7 days. Select foods that do not require refrigeration, cooking or preparation. Items such as canned or dehydrated food, powdered milk, nutrition bars and canned juices can be rotated with your daily diet and replenished on a regular basis. Include eating utensils.

CAN OPENER
A hand-operated one.

FIRST AID KIT
With items such as: gauze, bandages, scissors, tape, disinfectants, antiseptics, first aid manual and non-prescription medications.

PRESCRIPTIONS
Medication for at least 7 days and a list of medications that you take, time of day you take them and name of pharmacy where you buy your prescriptions.

EXTRA EYE GLASSES
In case one pair is broken.

HEARING AIDS
Hearing aid and extra batteries.

FIRE EXTINGUISHER
multipurpose, labeled A-B-C.

SMOKE DETECTOR
Have a smoke detector and fire alarm system installed. If you have some difficulty hearing, install the system that has flashing strobe lights to get your attention. Check batteries. Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Prevention Act requires all single-family homes with an attached garage or a fossil fuel source to install carbon monoxide alarms within the home. Owners of multi-family leased or rental dwellings, such as apartment buildings, must also comply with the law.

BLANKETS or SLEEPING BAGS
Have ready and available.
LIFE SUPPORT EQUIPMENT
If your life-support equipment requires electricity, purchasing an emergency generator or alternative method is recommended.

PHONE NUMBERS
Make a list of relatives or friends to call.

STURDY SHOES

DURING THE EMERGENCY

If indoors, stay there. In an earthquake get under a desk, table or doorway or stand in a corner. Cover your head with your arms if you are not under a protective object.
If outdoors, get into an open area away from trees, buildings, walls, and power lines.
If driving, pull over to the side of the road and stop. Avoid overpasses and power lines. Stay inside until shaking is over.

If in a crowded public place, do not rush for the doors. Move away from display shelves containing objects that could fall.
If in a high-rise building, stay away from windows and outside walls. Get under a table. Do not use elevators.
If evacuation is ordered, do so as quickly as possible. Take your ‘To Go’ kit.
Check for injuries. Apply first aid. Do not move seriously injured individuals unless they are in immediate danger.

Do not use the telephone immediately unless there is a serious injury or fire.

Hunt for hazards.

Check for gas and water leaks, broken electrical wiring or sewage lines. If there is damage, turn utility off at the source.

Check building for cracks and damage, including roof, chimneys, and foundation.

Check food and water supplies. Emergency water may be obtained from water heaters, melted ice cubes, toilet tanks, and canned vegetables.

Turn on your portable radio for instructions and news reports. Cooperate fully with public safety officials.

Various radio and some TV stations may broadcast information during an emergency; during disasters tune to a local radio station by scrolling through the AM and FM dials or local TV stations to find one that is broadcasting.

Do not use your vehicle when there is an emergency. Keep the streets clear for emergency vehicles.

Stay calm and lend a hand to others.

If you evacuate, post a message inside your home telling family members where you can be found.

Out of Home Respite
Temporary respite care or permanent long-term care may become necessary when independent or assisted living is not possible.

When a person cannot continue to live in their own home, a decision must be made about the level of care which is the most appropriate. The following is a brief description of the two possible choices in Santa Barbara County.

Residential Care Facilities
Also known as “assisted living” or “board and care,” residential care facilities provide room and board, some personal care assistance, monitoring of medication taking, and social opportunities. They are for people who can no longer live at home, yet do not need professional nursing care. These facilities are licensed and monitored by the State Department of Social Services.

Skilled Nursing Facilities
Also known as “nursing homes” or “convalescent hospitals,” nursing facilities provide professional nursing services on a 24 hour basis as prescribed by the patient’s physician. In addition to medical nursing care, physical, occupational, and other therapies can be provided. These facilities are licensed by the State Department of Public Health.

They can answer many questions that you may have about long-term care, provide you with a list of in-county facilities and/or out-of-county referrals, and advocate on behalf of residents of a long-term care facility.

Other sources of assistance for placement include hospital discharge planners for persons who are about to leave the hospital and home assessment case management programs if in-home evaluations are needed.

An unregulated, unlicensed cottage industry has grown of businesses providing placement services for residential care facilities for the elderly.
In addition, a listing of the residential care facilities and skilled nursing facilities is also available from Senior Connection at 1-800-510-2020.

Problems with Residential Care/Skilled Nursing Care Facilities
If there is a problem with the care someone is receiving in a residential care or skilled nursing facility, an attempt should be made first to resolve it with the facility’s administration. If the problem cannot be resolved, you can contact:

Long-Term Care Ombudsman Services
Ombudsman Services investigates and resolves, when possible, complaints made by or on behalf of residents in residential care or skilled nursing facilities. Ombudsman Services is also officially designated by the state to receive and investigate reports of abuse in long-term care facilities.

Housing which is affordable, available and adequate is extremely limited in Santa Barbara County. There currently is a housing crisis with less than 1/2 percent vacancy rate. This makes finding housing very difficult for anyone but especially for individuals on low and extremely low incomes. The following section describes some of the programs designed to assist you with housing.

Low Cost Rentals

Federally Subsidized Housing

Housing Authorities develop and manage federally financed public housing projects and other below-market housing developments, and provide these units on a rental basis to eligible low income persons and families. There are two Housing Authorities located in Santa Barbara County: the Housing Authority of the City of Santa Barbara, and the Housing Authority of the County of Santa Barbara.

Both Housing Authorities also administer the Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program which provides rental subsidies to low income individuals and families. Because the demand for subsidized housing is very high in Santa Barbara County, both the City and County Housing Authorities have long waiting lists and enrollment for certain programs is not always open. Contact each agency for specific details about their programs and waiting lists.

Housing Authority of the City of Santa Barbara

www.hasbarco.org

The Housing Authority of the County of Santa Barbara owns and manages low-income housing throughout Santa Barbara County. Call one of the offices listed above for details.

Other Federally Financed Housing

Several non profit organizations have build subsidized housing for low income seniors throughout Santa Barbara County.

Some for-profit residential corporations offer low-cost housing, a few accept Housing Authority Section 8 vouchers. A listing of subsidized and independent living facilities is available from Senior Connection at 800-510-2020.

Waiting List Tips

Many apartment projects, both subsidized and non-subsidized, have long waiting lists and enrollment for certain programs is not always open. Contact each agency for specific details about their programs and waiting lists.

1. There is no limit to the number of waiting lists you can put your name on. It is best to sign up on several lists to increase your likelihood of receiving assistance.

2. Make sure that you keep the project informed of your current address and telephone number. One reason lists move quickly is that people cannot be reached when there is a vacancy.

3. Check back regularly, but don’t be a pest. Let them know you are still interested.

Other Financial Assistance

Alexander House Foundation
PO Box 23642
Santa Barbara, CA 93121
805-966-3665

Provides financial assistance for housing for the elderly, 65 and over, on a fixed income and at least a 10-year resident, who live between Carpinteria and Isla Vista in the Santa Barbara area.

Reverse Mortgages

A Reverse Mortgage allows you to borrow against the equity in your home to provide you with tax-free income. You continue to own your home and live in it for the life of your loan. You typically make no loan payments, as the Reverse Mortgage becomes due only when you sell your home or move out of it.

A Reverse Mortgage operates in an opposite manner from a conventional mortgage. With a conventional mortgage, your equity grows and your debt shrinks as you repay the lender. In a Reverse Mortgage, your equity shrinks and your debt grows as the lender pays you.

Money obtained from a Reverse Mortgage can be distributed in a number of ways:

- As a single lump sum of cash.
- As regular monthly payments.
- As a credit line that lets you decide how much and when to draw it.
- As a combination of these payment plans.

Why get one?

A Reverse Mortgage makes sense for some homeowners. It’s a way of cashing in on that hard-earned equity that you’ve been building over the years. It can provide you with the extra income you need.

Some homeowners use the money to pay off debts, medical expenses or home care. Some want a line of credit they can draw upon as needed for unplanned expenses.

A Reverse Mortgage provides other advantages for some homeowners, including:

• You get to keep your home. As long as you abide by the loan requirements, you can never lose your home.
• You can never owe more than the value of your home. Although your debt grows larger the longer your loan lasts, it can never grow larger than the selling price of your home.
• You never have to repay your loan during the life of the loan.
• Your income is not a consideration in obtaining the loan since you make no payments.
• The money you receive is tax-free, since it is not considered “income.”

Why NOT get one?
A Reverse Mortgage is not right for everyone. It can have significant disadvantages for some homeowners. These disadvantages need to be carefully weighed against the advantages.

Some reasons NOT to get a Reverse Mortgage include:

• It is more complicated than conventional mortgages and often not well understood, even by loan and legal professionals.
• It could have adverse tax consequences for some homeowners.
• These are expensive loans and consumers need to be aware of all the costs. Cost for these loans typically include upfront fees (origination and closing costs), monthly account maintenance fees and interest on the principle (which compounds). It could be an expensive loan if you end up defaulting on the loan or need to move too soon (within a few years of the loan’s closing).
• It could affect your eligibility for public assistance.
• It could have a negative impact on the estate your heirs will inherit.
• Other solutions may be available and cost much less.

How to decide?
The best way to decide if a Reverse Mortgage is right for you is to consult a Reverse Mortgage professional. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) can help you find a HUD-approved Reverse Mortgage counselor that you should consult BEFORE you contact a lender. This is so important that lenders will require that you have a certificate showing that you have consulted with a counselor before they will approve your loan.

HUD-approved Reverse Mortgage counselors in California are with Money Management International at 877-615-7873. This consultation is completed by telephone.

Not all counselors are equally knowledgeable, so it’s a good idea to ask them how long they have been doing Reverse Mortgage counseling and how many clients they have worked with. There is a fee for this service (usually around $150).

A good counselor will…

- Be unbiased, independent, and protect your privacy.
- Disclose all your options and help you decide what is right for you. There will be no pressure to apply for a Reverse Mortgage.
- Give you a “Personal Reverse Mortgage Analysis,” and a written comparison of all the Reverse Mortgage programs available in your area.
- Provide you with a “HUD Certificate of HECM Counseling,” which most lenders will require before giving you a Reverse Mortgage.

Residential Care Facilities for the Elderly

Residential Care Facilities for the Elderly provide care and supervision as well as meals and housekeeping. There are over 150 RCFE’s in the County. Go to www.cclcd.ca.gov for a complete listing. Or contact the Long Term Care Ombudsman at 805-922-1236 for a complete listing. Both provide listings free of charge.

Placement Agencies

Businesses that refer a person or family member to a residential care facility for the elderly. This is a new business model that is currently unregulated in the State of California. Caution is suggested. Here are some questions to ask a referral agency:

- Do you receive a fee, commission or any payment if a person you refer decides to move into a RCFE?
- Describe any agreement or contract you have with any referrals?
- Do you have any conflict of interest in any of the referrals you present?
- Do you provide a copy of recent licensing or monitoring visits by State Community Care Licensing?
- Does the referred facility meet the required licensing standards?
- What is the contact information for the long term care ombudsman program?
- Do you have liability insurance coverage? If so, in what amount?

• When was the last time you visited this facility in person?

Shared Housing
Home sharing by two or more people is becoming increasingly practical. In the absence of programs which offer this service, what follows are some tips on finding a shared housing situation. Some assisted and independent living communities offer this as well.

Tips on Shared Housing
1. Spread the word among your friends that you are looking for a roommate or a room in someone’s house. It’s possible that they know of someone who can help you.

2. Look in the classified ads in your local newspaper under “Roommates” or “Situation Wanted.” People are sometimes willing to exchange services such as cooking and cleaning for rent.

3. If you choose to advertise for a roommate, it is wise to rent a PO Box for replies from prospective roommates. Ask for references and check them.

4. Be clear with applicants about what life styles and behavior are acceptable to you. You may consider drawing up a contract specifying such practical matters as when the rent is due, cleaning deposit information, etc. If you are exchanging services for rent, outline in writing what services you expect.

5. Talk to assisted and independent communities and see if they may have this option.

The housing offices at the colleges sometimes have students, faculty or staff who are offering a service in exchange for rent. Occasionally a student looking for long-term housing prefers living with a senior citizen for a stable and quiet atmosphere.

Foreclosure Fraud

Avoiding Mortgage Fraud
Mortgage fraud is becoming increasingly common. Scam artists often target homeowners struggling to meet their mortgage commitments or anxious to sell their homes.

There is help available when facing financial problems or foreclosure, but make sure you are dealing with a reputable organization before getting involved. To protect your home and home equity and avoid falling victim to fraudulent schemes, recognize and understand the signs of mortgage fraud. Know how to report fraud to state and federal authorities so they can stop scam artists from preying on innocent borrowers.

If you are facing financial difficulties that are making it difficult to pay your mortgage, or if you feel you might be falling prey to a fraudulent scheme, the best solution is to talk to your lender or a reputable counselor. Also, be wary of individuals who promise to rescue you from financial difficulty or possible foreclosure.

Foreclosure Rescue Scheme
If you have fallen behind on your mortgage payments, this may seem like an attractive solution - but beware. A foreclosure rescue scheme often begins with a scam artist offering a promise to pay off your delinquent mortgage, allowing you to stay in the home as a renter with the option to purchase the home back when your financial situation improves. But what really happens is a series of steps designed to cash out the equity in the home and disappear.

- As part of the “rescue,” the homeowner will be required to deed the property to a new borrower who is often “investing” in a rental property, but who is really part of the scam.
The proceeds of the sale pay off the delinquent loan and the new borrower removes all the equity in the house, never to be seen again.

The distressed homeowner is now merely a renter in a home they no longer own, unaware that the new borrower is not making payments.

When the new borrower defaults on the loan, the homeowner is evicted from the home – they have lost the house and all the equity in it.

Scam artists are very crafty and will often vary the scheme depending on the homeowner they are talking to, so be cautious. Some warning signs that a scam artist may be trying to set you up as a victim of a foreclosure rescue scheme include:

- Being approached by a stranger with an unsolicited “rescue” offer.
- Receiving an unsolicited call, mail or flyer about “foreclosure rescue” or saving your home.
- Participating in a complicated deal that you don’t fully understand.
- Signing documents that have blanks or false statements.

Regardless of what you are told, this is never okay

The best solution when you face financial difficulties that may endanger your home is always to talk to your lender or a reputable counselor.

Illegal Flipping

Flipping is a legitimate practice where an investor purchases a property in need of repairs or upgrades, makes the necessary changes to the property in a very short amount of time and sells the home for a profit. We’ve all seen the TV shows about flipping and they’re fun to watch. But there are scam artists who use flipping to make money illegally.

Often times, the scam artist will offer much more than the asking price of a home with a stipulation that the “surplus” amount over the asking price is given back to the borrower at closing. At closing, the inflated value of the home will be attributed to home improvements that were never made. The scam artist will pocket that and default on the loan.

As a homeowner, especially one whose house has been on the market a long time, this may seem like an attractive deal but remember – falsifying documents is fraud.

Reporting Mortgage Fraud

If you suspect that you have been a victim of mortgage fraud or are aware of a possible scam, you can report it by calling the Mortgage Fraud Hotline 1-800-4-Fraud8 (1-800-437-2838.)

Tip: Home Repair Scams Alert

Never Buy Home Repairs From Door To Door Sellers

Many elderly persons are targeted by scam artists who use high pressure tactics to sell unneeded and overpriced contracts for “home improvements.” Often they charge more than their customers are led to believe. And then, when the senior refuses to pay for shoddy or incomplete work, the contractor or its closely affiliated financial institution, attempts to force payment by placing a lien on the senior’s home and making threats.

How You Can Protect Yourself

There are several basic steps one can take which can prevent a problem from arising:

- Never deal with any door to door contractors or buy repairs advertised on TV. Deal with local trades people recommended by friends or reputable building supply stores.
- Before agreeing to hire any home improvement contractor, get at least a second estimate for the same work from another contractor.
- Get a written contract or estimate describing the work, the price, the responsibility for cleaning up, and the hourly rate for any added work.
- Get references for the contractor and speak to those references. Ask about satisfaction and any, problems that arose.
- Take a look at other work performed by the same contractor.

If problems have developed with a contractor’s work, seniors should immediately take steps to protect their interests, such as:

- Obtain an estimate from a professional detailing how much damage was done by the contractor and the value of whatever services were rendered.
- Take detailed pictures of the work or damage left by the contractor and date them. These photos can be used in court to show the nature and extent of the problem.
- Hire an expert (architect, reputable contractor, etc.) to look at the work for quality and compliance with specifications. The expert can also provide an estimate regarding the fairness of the price for work completed, the extent of physical damage, and its cost to repair.
Finding an Attorney

Elder law practitioners focus primarily on aging, incapacity, long term care, estate planning for seniors, public benefits, planning for the future, and/or elder abuse and neglect or financial exploitation. Always ask a prospective attorney the nature of his or her practice and experience.

Conservatorship of the Person
Conservatorship of the Person is a court legal process for assuming control over an incapacitated individual’s personal (non-financial) affairs, including health care decisions. The conservator is responsible for making sure the conservatee is properly fed, clothed, housed, cared for, and medically treated. Conservatorship is usually the last alternative considered and is often not necessary if one has signed a power of attorney for health care document such as an Advance Health Care Directive, but it may be necessary if the person is already unable to manage his or her own daily activities, care needs, and health decisions. A court hearing is required to appoint a conservator. Legal expenses are costly. The court decides who will be the Conservator of the Person and a family member is preferred. Where no family member is available or capable of serving as Conservator of the Person, a Licensed Professional Fiduciary may be appointed. The Public Guardian is the conservator of last resort for frail elderly and brain-impaired adults, but the Public Guardian may decline to serve if there are family members who are available to serve.

Conservatorship of the Estate
Similar to the Conservatorship of the Person, Conservatorship of the Estate allows for the management of an incapacitated individual’s finances, other assets, and legal affairs. Court proceedings to designate a conservator are required. This is usually the last method considered, but may be necessary if the individual is already unable to manage his or her own financial affairs and does not have a durable power of attorney for finance and/or a Living Trust. These documents, when signed when the individual has legal capacity, can prevent the need for a conservatorship of the estate in many cases. Conservatorship of the estate (financial assets and income) remain under the supervision of the court, and reports and periodic accountings to the court are required.

Private Fiduciaries
Professional Fiduciaries Bureau of California
Find a local licensed professional fiduciary at:
https://pfac-pro.org

Individuals serving as fiduciaries in the state of California are required to be licensed by the Professional Fiduciaries Bureau under the California Department of Consumer Affairs. Services include:
- Trustee, Executor or Administrator of an estate, bill payment and money management services, health care representation,
- Agent under a power of attorney for finance or for health care,
- Conservator of the Person,
- Conservator of the Estate.

Durable Power of Attorney
A Durable Power of Attorney (for Property Management or Financial Affairs) may be considered an alternative to a Trust or a Conservatorship of the Estate to provide for management of financial affairs, legal affairs, and assets.

Wills
A Will is a document that specifies how you wish to have your assets distributed after you die and designates who will be responsible to carry out your wishes. A Will requires a court probate proceeding if your estate has more than $150,000 worth of assets.

Small Claims Court
If you are involved in a dispute where someone owes you money, or you desire the return of your property, Small Claims Court may be an appropriate venue. Attorneys are not allowed to represent either side at the hearing. The maximum amount of money that an individual can sue for is $10,000. The maximum for a business is $5,000. If your claim is larger, you may consider hiring an attorney to take your case to the Superior Court.

File your suit in either the district where the problem occurred or in the district where the defendant (the person you are suing) resides.

www.sbcourts.org:
The law requires each county to provide free assistance in small claims cases. If you are unsure about any of the legal aspects of your case, please consult an attorney prior to filing your action with the court clerk.

Questions Consumers Should Ask

The following is a list of important questions that consumers and caregivers should ask their health care providers about each medicine:

- Why is this medicine prescribed?
- How does the medicine work in my body?
- How can I expect to feel once I start taking this medicine?
- How will I know the medicine is working? Is there a typical period after which my symptoms should improve?
- How long will I have to take this medicine? Will I need a refill when I finish this prescription?
- Will this medicine interact with other medicines—prescription and nonprescription—that I am taking now?
- Should I take this medicine with food? Are there any foods or beverages I should avoid?
- Are there any activities I should avoid while taking this medicine?
- What possible problems might I experience with the medicine? How can I prevent these problems from occurring? At what point should I report problems with the medicine?
- What should I do if I miss a dose of this medicine, or take too much?
- What is the cost for the medicine prescribed? Is there a less expensive alternative prescription?

Mental health is more than the absence of mental illness; it is a state/condition characterized by a general sense of well-being, satisfying relationships with other people, and the ability to handle life's ups and downs and the feelings that accompany them. Throughout our lives, we all go through several experiences that affect our mental health. At one point or another, we all have had to adjust to change, we've all experienced loss, anger, fear, sadness, or worry about something. Both our genetic makeup as well as our learned ability to cope with these feelings effects our ability to enjoy optimal mental health.

The experience of changes in mood or the workings of the mind should never be assumed to be the result of the normal aging process - they are always a sign that something is not well with a person's health and that the individual needs medical help.

Fortunately, most mental and emotional health issues are treatable. And, as is true with any illness, the earlier the treatment of mental health problems, the more likely the individual will regain the capability of living a normal life. In this day and age, there is no justification for anyone to suffer needlessly because of lack of treatment.

Today community agencies and helping professionals provide assistance for those whose natural helping communities may not be available. People who have been self-reliant in their younger years may not recognize their need for help or wish to accept help even though they may see the need for assistance. For these reasons and the stigma associated with mental and emotional problems, older adults and their family members may not pursue the mental health care available to them which could significantly improve their enjoyment and their quality of life. Many people do not realize that such help is accessible to them and that it is much more effective than that what was provided less than a decade ago.

Within Santa Barbara County there are many fine counseling agencies and private therapists. There are many kinds of counselors and therapists in California. A psychiatrist is a mental health professional who has been trained as a medical doctor.

(MD) and has received specialized training in treating mental disorders. Psychiatrists can prescribe medication as needed. Psychologists (PhD’s and PsyD’s) can provide both psychotherapy as well as clinical assessment. Marriage and Family Therapists (MFT’s) and Licensed Clinical Social Workers (LCSW’s) also provide psychotherapy, generally with an emphasis on helping persons develop insight and build coping skills.

In choosing a therapist, it is important to determine if the therapist has had any special training or experience in working with older adults. For listing of private therapists look in the Yellow Pages under “Marriage, Family and Child Counselors,” “Social Workers,” and for a listing of Psychiatrists, look under “Physicians & Surgeons, M.D. - Psychiatry.” You may also obtain a list of providers through your insurance. A ccess to health care is important for all ages. As people age, its importance increases. For some it is difficult to access health care due to a variety of reasons. There have been significant changes in the payment for health care in recent years.

Medicare
Medicare was established in 1965 under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act and was initially established to provide health insurance to individuals age 65 and older, regardless of income or medical history, so long as the required work credits and payroll tax contributions have been made. Can pay for Part A even if didn't work or pay into Social security (resident for 5 years). The program was expanded in 1972 to include individuals under age 65 receiving Social Security Disability Insurance payments for long term disabilities and people suffering from end-stage renal disease (ESRD) or Lou Gehrig’s disease (ALS).

Enrolling in Medicare
The initial Medicare enrollment period starts three months prior to the month in which you reach age 65 and continues three months after your birth month. People at age 65 are automatically enrolled if they or their spouse are receiving Social Security payments and have made payroll tax contributions for 10 or more years (40 quarters). If not, local Social Security offices take Medicare applications and provide information and assistance. You can also apply for Medicare on-line at www.socialsecurity.gov, or by calling the national Social Security number 800-772-1213.

The Parts of Medicare
Medicare consists of several parts, each covering different benefits. Part A hospital insurance program covers inpatient hospital services, skilled nursing care in a skilled nursing facility, home health, and hospice care. If a person has made payroll tax contributions for 10 or more years, there is no monthly premium. You may also qualify if your spouse is eligible. If you are admitted to a hospital, there is an initial deductible of $1,364 (2019). Medicare pays in-patient hospital costs for up to 60 days after which there is a daily co-insurance amount of $341 per day for days 61-90 and $682 per day for days 91-150. Part A also covers about 100% of the first 20 days in a Skilled Nursing Facility following a 72 hour or more hospitalization, excluding the discharge day, after which there is a co-insurance amount of $170.50 per day for days 21-100. Note that Medicare does not pay for custodial long-term care in a skilled nursing facility; instead, in order for Medicare to cover any part of a skilled nursing facility bill, the resident must have received 5 days or more per week of skilled services, primarily rehabilitation services such as physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy, and other skilled services. Once the facility ceases to provide skilled services at least 5 days per week, Medicare ceases to cover the services. Then Medi-Cal becomes a possible solution.

Part B outpatient services benefit covers a portion of the Medicare approved costs for out-patient medical services such as doctors’ services, outpatient hospital care, laboratory tests, outpatient physical and speech therapy, some home health care, ambulance services, and some medical equipment and supplies. Part B pays 80% of approved charges with an annual deductible of $185.50 (2019). There are many preventive services that are not subject to the annual deductible or the coinsurance for doctors who accept Medicare assignment. Those with a modest income and assets may be eligible for assistance with Part B costs. In 2019 the monthly premium is $135.50 for individuals with income under $85,000 ($170,000 for couples). Premiums are higher for people with higher incomes. Most people choose to enroll in Part B when they become eligible for Medicare. Although Part B is optional, a life long penalty could apply if you sign up at a later date. If you are working and have medical coverage through your place of employment or your spouse’s employment, you may delay your enrollment in Part B without a penalty provided the coverage is considered “creditable.”

Part C Medicare Advantage (MA) plans allow beneficiaries to enroll in a private plan. After you are enrolled in Original Medicare (Part A and Part B) you can apply for a MA plan through private insurance companies. When you are new to Medicare you have the same seven-month initial enrollment period as Part B. Enrollment in a MA plan is based on a calendar year. Beneficiaries on MA plans have the option of changing MA plans or returning to Original Medicare each year during the Annual Election Period (October 15th to December 7th) and between January 1st and March 31st.

To join a MA plan, you must be enrolled in both Medicare Part A and Part B and continue to pay the Part B premium. There may be an additional monthly premium paid to the MA premium. There are still on Medicare and still retain the full rights and protections entitled to all Medicare beneficiaries. MA plans are available in specific geographic areas and zip codes. Plans in our area are HMO plans and include prescription drug coverage.

Part D prescription drug benefit was established by the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003 and launched in 2006. This benefit is delivered through private plans that contract with Medicare. Individuals who sign up for a Part D plan pay a monthly premium and some plans have deductibles. There are distinct differences between the plans regarding the medications they cover, the negotiated costs of the medications and restrictions on refills. Each year from October 15th through December 7th (Annual Enrollment Period) you may review the various Part D plans to ensure you are in a plan that covers your medications and is the least expensive. Plan providers change their medication formulations each year and medications are discontinued while others are added. Monthly premiums are also adjusted. Beginning January 1st the following year, a beneficiary is locked into their chosen Part D plan (except under special circumstances). It is highly advisable to have a free and unbiased personalized Part D plan search completed each year during the Annual Enrollment Period. This can be completed through the Medicare.gov website or as a free service by HICAP. Those with a modest income and assets may be eligible for assistance with premiums and cost-sharing amounts.

Most people choose to enroll in Part D when they become eligible for Medicare. Although Part D is optional, there is a life-long penalty for those who do not enroll. The penalty is based on the number of months not enrolled in a Part D plan. If you are working and have prescription drug coverage through your place of employment or your spouse’s employment, you may delay your enrollment in Part D without a penalty provided the coverage is considered “creditable.”

It is worthwhile to note that Part D benefits have a coverage gap also known as the “donut hole” in which a beneficiary may pay a greater percentage of their medication costs for a predetermined limit after which they receive reduced medication expenses for the remainder of the calendar year. The Affordable Care Act implemented a systematic plan to reduce the expense of the donut hole and close it by the year 2020. The future of this component of the Affordable Care Act is uncertain at the time of publication.

Supplemental Insurance (also known as Medigap Insurance)

These are standardized insurance plans sold by private insurance companies to cover some of your expenses after Medicare pays. These policies only cover the “gaps” in Medicare A and B payments; if Medicare does not approve a service, the Medigap plan will not cover it. There are ten standard plans to choose from covering different portions of the expenses. Although Medigap plan benefits are standardized, the prices are not and they can vary widely from company to company. If you are exploring Medigap plans, be sure to get price quotes from several companies.

Once a beneficiary is enrolled in Part D a beneficiary has the one-time option to purchase a supplemental plan with no medical underwriting. This is known as “guaranteed issue.” In California, a person may shop for a less expensive plan each year on their birthday plus 30 days. If they find a less expensive plan that provides the same or lesser coverage, they maintain their guaranteed issue status. If they change to a plan which provides greater benefit coverage, the guaranteed issue status is forfeited and the supplemental insurance company can then ask medically qualifying questions to determine whether they will sell you a supplemental plan or adjust the cost based on your medical issues.

Supplemental plans are under the oversight of the California Department of Insurance and are sold by insurance agents and insurance companies. Unbiased counseling on supplemental health insurance is available as a free service from the Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) by calling 800-434-0222.

Understanding your Medicare Benefits

Medicare provides free booklets that describe Medicare benefits. The publication entitled “Medicare and You” is updated annually. Medicare and You booklets can be ordered at Medicare.gov. Your local HICAP office also provides Medicare and You booklets in English, Spanish, and English Large Print.

The Medicare helpline can be reached at 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227). Calls to Medicare are accepted 24 hours a day 7 days a week. Calling later in the evening may shorten any on-hold wait time. Should you prefer to meet one-on-one with a counselor in your local community or attend a local seminar on benefits, you can call HICAP at 800-434-0222 or access locations and times by going online to www.CentralCoastSeniors.org

Choosing a Medicare provider

It is important to ensure that the doctors and providers you are using for medical treatment and equipment are contracted with Medicare. If they are not, Medicare will not pay for the services you receive. When going to a new doctor, it is important to ask whether they accept “Medicare Assignment.” If they accept Assignment, the doctor agrees to accept 80% of the Medicare approved amount as payment for the claims they submit. The doctor forwards the remaining 20% of the bill to you or your supplemental Medigap plan. If a doctor does NOT accept “Medicare Assignment,” they will process the paperwork but you will have to pay them first and request reimbursement directly from Medicare. Doctors who do not accept assignment are able to charge 15% in excess of the Medicare approved rate. If you have a supplemental Medigap policy, you may have one of the plans that cover these “excess charges.” Lastly, there are doctors who “Opt Out” and do not participate with Medicare at all. They are required to provide you with notification and it is your responsibility to pay them privately. Medicare will not approve any payment to them or you for services provided.

Appealing a claim

You have the right to appeal a Medicare claim denial. You may use a copy of your Medicare Summary Notice or the Explanation of Medicare Benefits received from the Medicare contractor to document your reasons for appealing. You may call the phone number listed on the Medicare Summary Notice or Explanation of Benefits for clarification of your claim. The local Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) at Tips to prevent fraud include:
- Never give your Medicare card number to people you don’t know because it can result in identity theft.
- Medicare will never call you on the phone.
- Beware of suppliers and providers that use phone calls and door-to-door selling as a way to sell you goods or services.
- Be suspicious of companies that offer free medical equipment or other skilled services, e.g. physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, IV therapy, and/or other services requiring a skilled health care professional.
- Beware of health care providers who say they represent Medicare or a branch of the Federal Government, or providers who use pressure tactics to get you to accept a service or product.

When Will Medicare Pay for Skilled Nursing Facility Care?
Seniors may have to pay skilled nursing facility care for themselves or their spouses. When it comes to skilled nursing facility care, Medicare is really a short-term rehabilitation program, not a long term care program.

There are several requirements in order for Medicare or a Medicare Supplement to cover any care in a skilled nursing facility.

#1: The patient must have been admitted and spent at least 72 hours in a hospital within the past 30 days for the same condition, excluding the discharge day. Think of it as 3 overnights plus a discharge day as a fully admitted patient.

#2: The patient must be discharged to a skilled nursing facility for rehabilitation services or other skilled services.

#3: The patient must receive at least 5 days per week of skilled services, e.g. physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, IV therapy, and/or other services requiring a skilled health care professional.

Custodial care alone is not enough to get Medicare coverage in a skilled nursing facility. Custodial care includes 24/7 supervision due to cognitive impairment, and/or assistance with two or more activities of daily living, i.e. feeding (getting food from the plate to the mouth), toileting, bathing, dressing, using incontinent supplies, or transferring. If the patient is receiving only custodial care at the skilled nursing facility and not 5 days per week of skilled nursing services, then Medicare A, most Medicare Advantage plans, and Medicare Supplements (Medigap) cover nothing.

If a stay at a skilled nursing facility is covered by Medicare, then Medicare Part A will pay 100% of the first 20 days, so long as 5 days per week of skilled services are received. From day 21 to day 100, there is a daily co-pay of $170.50 (2019). Once Medicare stops paying, the patient must pay 100%. For this reason, most long-term skilled nursing facility residents have Medi-Cal. Either they run out of money, or they learn how to qualify for Medi-Cal from an attorney. The best time to see the lawyer if a senior is going to be in a skilled nursing facility for the long term (30 days or more) is as soon as you realize that this stay may be long term, not short-term.

Observation in Hospitals
Some Medicare hospital patients find themselves in ‘observation’ status. Consequences of such status can be expensive for the patient, if seeking rehabilitation or skilled nursing care.
PAYING FOR HEALTH CARE

following discharge. New rules regarding notification were implemented after March 2017. Hospitals will be required to provide notification to individuals receiving observation services as outpatients for more than 24 hours explaining the status of the individual as an outpatient and the implications of such status. This required notification includes a CMS approved form and an oral explanation.

Medi-Cal

Medi-Cal is the medical assistance program for persons with limited assets in the State of California. It is a joint federal and state program, called Medicaid in other states. People who have both Medicare and full Medi-Cal are referred to as “dual eligible.” If you qualify for both, you do not need additional health insurance to pay medical costs. You will be automatically enrolled in a Medicare Part D plan for prescription coverage.

For those individuals and couples who have SSI, the Social Security Administration and County Departments of Social Services, determine eligibility for Medi-Cal. This eligibility is based on federal and state guidelines regarding income and real and personal property limits. If you receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI, which is different from Social Security Retirement Benefit and different from Social Security Disability Insurance), then Medi-Cal coverage is automatic. To apply for SSI, contact the Social Security Administration office in your area. (See the Financial Matters section for further detail on SSI.) If you lose your SSI, e.g. through an inheritance, you will need to apply for Medi-Cal, and the determination of eligibility will be made entirely by the County Social Services Department based on your countable property, not based on your income. This type of Medi-Cal is based on being aged (65 or over), blind, or disabled and having less than the allowable amount of countable property. Your Medi-Cal monthly co-pay (Share of Cost) will be determined by your income.

For a person who is aged, blind, or disabled and receiving Medicare, you will qualify for Medi-Cal if you have up to $2,000 in countable assets as an individual, or $3,000 in assets as a couple living in the community, or $122,900 (a limit that can be raised by a judge) if one spouse is in a skilled nursing facility and the other spouse is not. Some assets, including your home, one car, and retirement accounts that have regular distributions or are owned by the spouse who is not in a skilled nursing facility are not counted when determining your eligibility. To determine your eligibility for Medi-Cal under any of the following programs, you may contact your county Department of Social Services, but frequently there are errors, in which case it is advisable to seek legal assistance. It is always worth it to get a legal consultation before applying online or with the Department of Social Services to see if you are already financially qualified or if you need to do take steps to become financially qualified. Be sure to call ahead to learn what documents you will need to complete your application. (Note: Long Term Care Medi-Cal for a skilled nursing facility is discussed in the following section on Long Term Care.)

Aged and Disabled Federal Poverty Level Program

If you are over 65 or disabled, and your assets meet the limits but your income is higher than SSI limits, in California you may qualify for Medi-Cal under the Aged and Disabled Federal Poverty Level Program, which will require you to pay a Medi-Cal Share of Cost.

Medi-Cal with Share of Cost

You may qualify for Medi-Cal with a “share of cost” (SOC) if you meet the asset limits but exceed income limits. The SOC is the amount you must pay to the nursing home or other health care providers each month before Medi-Cal will pay the remainder of your medical bills. Most medical expenses as well as your premiums for Medicare Part A or B, Medigap, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare D Rx plans can be used to reduce your share-of-cost.

Problems in Application/Appeals Process

If you have been told you do not meet the qualifications for benefits and if you disagree, you should first discuss this with a County Social Worker at the Department of Social Services. If you are still not satisfied or if you are confused, or if you want to take steps to become eligible, seek a legal consultation from an experienced elder law attorney. You have the right to appeal your eligibility or any other decision about your Medi-Cal benefits, but it is wise to correct any problem before your appeal. Information about the appeals process should be included with any notice of denial; if not, contact the Department of Social Services. For additional information, contact the California Department of Health Care Services at 800-952-5253.

Qualified Medicare Beneficiary, “QMB”, Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary “SLMB” or Qualified Individual or “QI.”

The Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB), the Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLMB), and Qualified Individual programs were created by federal law requiring that State Medicaid (Medi-Cal) programs pay Medicare costs for certain elderly and disabled persons with low incomes and very limited assets.

An individual who has Medi-Cal in addition to Medicare is already getting the QMB benefit. Eligible individuals do not have to pay the monthly Medicare premium, the deductible for Part A Hospital and Part B Medical benefits, the daily coinsurance charges for hospital stays beyond 60 days, the co-payments for skilled nursing care beyond 20 days and the 20 percent coinsurance for Medicare-covered services. In most cases, if you are eligible for the QMB benefit, you do not need to purchase additional health insurance.

To be eligible for the QMB benefit, you must be eligible for Medicare (age 65 or older; or have been a disabled beneficiary under Social Security or the Railroad Retirement Board for more than 24 months; or on kidney dialysis; or received a kidney transplant) and have an income in 2016 of less than $1,010 per month if you are single or $1,355 per month for married couples. Income includes Social Security plus any other income sources. To be eligible your financial resources, such as bank accounts, stocks, and bonds, cannot exceed $7,280 for one person or $10,930 for a married couple. The home in which you and/or your spouse live, one automobile, pre-paid burial plot, home furnishings, personal jewelry and term life insurance with no cash value do not count as resources. If you do not qualify for QMB assistance because your income is too high, you may be able to get help under the SLMB program. The SLMB program is for persons whose incomes are slightly higher than the national poverty level, but not more than 120 percent of the Federal Poverty Level. In 2019 the income level for one person is $1,234 a month and for a couple it is $1,666 a month. If you qualify for assistance under the SLMB program, the State is required to pay the Medicare Part B monthly premium and Part D Extra Help for you. You will continue to be responsible for Medicare’s deductible and coinsurance and for charges for health care services and items not covered by Medicare.

One other program allows greater income limits and has some benefits of paying all of the Medicare Part B premiums. This program is known as Qualifying Individual (QI). The QI income limit for one person is $1,386 and $1,872 for a couple in 2019.

If you have questions about these programs, contact the Department of Social Services. If you think you may be eligible for any of these benefits, contact the County Department of Social Services.

Planning for Long Term Care
Needs
Long-term care is assistance with daily supervision of these activities when someone has physical or cognitive impairment. This type of care is often provided by family members or nurses’ aides and is not considered skilled care that nurses, doctors or therapists are licensed to provide, or that Medicare and other health insurance will usually pay for. This kind of care is referred to as “custodial care” or “personal care.” People often need long-term custodial care or personal care services after an illness or injury, such as a stroke or a broken hip, or because of a chronic physical or cognitive disorder, such as dementia, Alzheimer’s disease, or Parkinson’s Disease, or as result of aging and the inability to take care of one’s self. Many people live at home with help from family or paid caregivers. Others go to a skilled nursing facility, assisted living or other residential facility to receive this care.

Paying for Health Care

Long-term care is expensive. There are many ways to finance long-term care services and there is no single answer for everyone. Each person’s needs and financial situations are different. Good financial advice and planning is important in considering long-term care. Consult an Elder Law attorney regarding your options. Your CPA and financial advisor will not be adequately informed about long term care benefits.

Some people will never need this kind of care. However, those who do are likely to use a combination of payment sources, including their own resources, to pay for this care. This section discusses two of these sources: long-term care insurance and the public program under Medi-Cal.

Long-Term Care Insurance

Insurance policies specifically designed to cover long-term care are referred to as Long-Term Care (LTC) insurance. Individuals can purchase LTC insurance from a number of companies through insurance agents or a variety of groups or employers. All long-term care policies marketed in California must meet certain consumer standards established by state law. Policies in California are labeled according to where benefits will be paid. General types are:

Home Care Only

Benefits are paid only for home health, adult day health care, hospice, respite care, personal care and homemaker services. New policies for home care only are rarely issued now.

Skilled nursing facility and Residential Care Facility

Will only pay for care in a skilled nursing facility and in a place that is licensed as a Residential Care Facility for the Elderly (RCFE). Unlike some private LTC insurance plans, Medi-Cal pays only for long term care in a skilled nursing facility, not in assisted living, memory care, or other RCFE.

Comprehensive

Benefits include both home care and skilled nursing facility/residential facility care.

Partnership for LTC

These policies will allow you to keep more of the assets you would otherwise have to spend to qualify for Medi-Cal.

When you buy a LTC policy, you choose: 1) the type of policy you want to buy, 2) the amount of the daily benefit that will be paid, 3) the number of years you want the policy to pay benefits, 4) the number of days before the company begins paying benefits after you qualify, and 5) whether you want inflation protection. These five factors, combined with your age when you buy the policy, determine the premium you will pay. In general, premiums can range from a few hundred dollars a year, if you buy at age 45 years, to several thousand dollars a year, if you buy at age 75. Many companies will not sell LTC insurance to people who are over 85 years old or who are deemed “ uninsurable” due to a medical diagnosis. Some companies will insure you if you have a particular health condition, but they may charge you a higher premium.

Assessing your needs and ability to pay for long-term care insurance is a complex process. Contact the Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) to meet with a local HICAP State Registered Volunteer Counselor for a free and unbiased counseling session. 800-434-0222 or (805)928-5663.

Medi-Cal and Long-term Care

In California, Medi-Cal can help pay for some long-term care for people who fall within income and asset limits. Medi-Cal, known as Medicaid in other states, is a joint federal-state program that provides health care services to those who cannot afford to pay for these services themselves. LTC Medi-Cal is the most frequent payer of skilled nursing facility care in California. For people who qualify, Medi-Cal helps to pay for skilled nursing facility care (LTC Medi-Cal) or can provide some home care under the In Home Supportive Services (IHSS) program.

To qualify for Medi-Cal, a single individual must have $2,000 or less in countable property or assets, as distinguished from income. However, special rules apply for couples that are designed to prevent the impoverishment of one spouse when the other goes into a skilled nursing facility. As of 2018, the spouse remaining at home (also referred to as the “community spouse”) can keep all of the couple’s income up to $3,090 per month. The community spouse may also obtain additional income through a judge’s order, more easily through a court hearing than through a “fair hearing,” at which it is almost impossible to get a judge’s order.

The spouse in the skilled nursing facility is allowed to use part of her/his own income to pay for her/his health insurance premiums and can keep $35 each month for personal needs. If the income of the other spouse, i.e. the “community spouse,” is not at least $3,090, all or part of the income of the spouse who is in the skilled nursing facility will be allocated over to the community spouse to bring his/her income up to $3,090 per month. The monthly Share of Cost obligation to Medi-Cal, known as Medicaid in other states, will be allocated over to the nursing home to be what is left over after the health insurance premiums of the ill spouse, the $35 personal.
needs allowance, and the allocation to the community spouse. Medi-Cal pays the rest of the nursing home bill each month. The community spouse at home can also keep up to $124,720 in countable resources (2019), or more with a judge’s support order. The spouse in the skilled nursing facility can keep up to $2,000. For specific Medi-Cal eligibility guidelines, contact your county Department of Social Services or see an Elder Law attorney, who can also advise you on steps to take to become eligible.

Note that when you apply for Medi-Cal, your primary residence will not be included as a countable asset. However, federal and state laws limit a person’s home equity to $858,000, a figure that goes up every year or so, but fortunately, the equity value is the tax-assessed value or the appraised value, whichever is less, minus encumbrances. Depending on when your home was purchased, the tax assessed value may be a fraction of its appraised value. While your home is not counted as an asset in qualifying for Medi-Cal, the state may include your home’s value in any “estate recovery” action after you pass away, but only if it is not in a trust or does not have a survivorship interest on the deed. This is so due to new, beneficial Medi-Cal estate recovery rules that came into effect on January 1, 2017 and affects all deaths of the Medi-Cal or his/her spouse that occurs on or after 1-1-2017. There are other exemptions of assets such as from estate recovery if a spouse or a minor or disabled child lives in it. If the Medi-Cal beneficiary is survived by a spouse or by a disabled child at the time of the claim, there also will be no estate recovery no matter how the assets are titled. As this is a new law, see an Elder Law attorney to see how your home can be protected from a Medi-Cal estate recovery claim.

Also note Medicaid (Medi-Cal in CA) is a federal and state program. Each state sets its own rules based on federal minimums for income, assets, and estate recovery. If you move outside of California, these rules will usually be very different in your new home state. California now has the most liberal Medicaid/Medi-Cal rules in the U.S.

Physical activity is essential to healthy aging.
As an older adult, regular physical activity is one of the most important things you can do for your health. It can prevent many of the health problems that seem to come with age. It also helps your muscles stay strong so you can perform your day-to-day activities without becoming dependent on others.
Keep in mind, some physical activity is better than none at all. Your health benefits will also increase with the more physical activity that you do. Be sure to consult your MD.
Senior and Community Centers are a vital resource for information and services for older persons. Each center has a unique array of services to respond to the needs of the community. Services that are available may include computer training, senior lunch and nutrition programs, education, recreation activities, socialization, music, health screening, arts and crafts, and financial, legal or medical counseling.

Support and education groups consist of people with similar needs or goals who have come together to share information, coping skills and offer each other emotional support. Some groups are “self-help” and do not include professional helpers. These groups depend exclusively on the expertise developed by the people involved in the group, people who have experienced a particular life challenge in common. Other groups are organized by professional organizations, and meetings and other support services are facilitated by staff of those organizations.

Support and education groups have grown in popularity with the idea that people who have experienced a similar difficulty, problem or challenge can most effectively help others in the same situation.

As the value of support and education groups has become more widely known and appreciated, groups that address a variety of issues have evolved. There are groups for persons dealing with a wide range of life challenges, or for the people who support or care for them. Support and education groups can provide a valuable emotional support network. In the right group, you will find many people who have experienced the same problems, frustrations and anxieties you may find yourself feeling from time to time, or all the time. Very often someone in the group has discovered a resolution or effective coping tool and they are happy to share with everyone what has worked for them and what may work for you too.

Support and education groups can help to reduce participants feelings of isolation. It may be helpful just knowing that others understand your difficulties and can be there to offer encouragement and support. Many groups also offer an educational component, with instruction on topics of relevance to the group provided by the group facilitator or outside speakers.

The following is a list of support and education groups throughout Santa Barbara County. Please contact the group for current details. All groups listed offer free or low cost services. New groups are always forming. If you wish to find out if there’s a support group not listed here, please call Senior Connection at 800-510-2020.

TRANSPORTATION

Transportation is the link to services and programs for many older Americans. Since vision problems and other physical limitations can prevent older adults from transporting themselves, transportation services become a vital tool for linking older and disabled persons to services and maintaining their involvement in the social activities of the community.

Transportation Services
Transportation systems vary considerably in the structure and flexibility of the services offered.

Fixed Route Service is a transportation system that has a predetermined route with specific stops that conform to a timetable. The entities that provide this service have available pamphlets explaining the detail of each route.

Door-to-Door Service is a transportation system that will pick you up at a location determined by you and will take you to the location of your choice. Reservations are usually required.

To plan a trip, contact MTD Customer Service Representative at 805-963-3366.

Door-to-Door Service
If you need special transportation to take you to the doctor, the market and other places, and you are unable to ride the bus, you may be eligible for these specialized transportation programs for seniors and individuals with disabilities.

These special services are called “para-transit” and they use vans with lifts for wheelchair users and volunteers.

Services of this type are limited in this county, and so these agencies are often booked far in advance. It is best to plan ahead as much as possible and for medical appointments, try to coordinate your visit with a time that transportation is available.

Looking out for Signs of Risky Behavior

- You can ride along with a driver and look for signs of risky behind-the-wheel behavior. Here are some things to look for:
- Does the driver neglect to buckle up? Going unbelted might be a bad habit – or it may indicate a poor fit or trouble fastening a belt.
- Does the driver have difficulty working the pedals? A driver, who lifts his or her leg to move from the accelerator to the brake, rather than keeping a heel on the floor and pressing with the toes, may be signaling waning strength.
- Does the driver have difficulty merging on freeways or turning onto busy streets? Vision problems may impair his or her ability to judge the speed and distance of approaching traffic.
- When merging, changing lanes or backing up, does the driver rely only on the mirrors, rather than turning fully to check the blind spots over his or her shoulder? Failing to do so may be a bad habit – or may indicate the onset of stiffness in the neck and back.
- Does the driver have trouble seeing other vehicles, cyclists, or pedestrians, especially at night? Deteriorating night vision or sensitivity to glare may be the cause.
- Does the driver seem to ignore or “miss” stop signs and other traffic signals? Perhaps he or she is inattentive or cannot spot the signs in a crowded, constantly moving visual field.
- Does the driver react too slowly to sirens and flashing lights of emergency vehicles?
- Does the driver weave, straddle lanes, drift into other lanes, or change lanes without signaling?
- Does the driver position the car improperly for turns (especially left turns), or attempt turns from the wrong lane?
- Do other drivers honk or pass frequently, even when the traffic stream is moving relatively slowly? This may indicate difficulty keeping pace with fast-changing conditions.
- Does the driver tend to park far from his or her destination? A problem judging distances or making tight maneuvers may underlie the fear of closer parking spots.
- Does the driver get lost or disoriented easily, even in familiar places?
- Has the driver been issued two or more traffic tickets or warnings in the past two years? Tickets can predict greatest risk for accident.
- Has the driver been involved in two or more accidents or “near-misses” in the past two years? Rear-ends, parking lot fender-benders, and side accidents while turning across traffic rank as the most common mishaps for drivers with diminishing skills, depth perception, or reaction time.
United States Veterans and their families may be eligible for programs and services provided by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Benefits are legislated in United States Code Title 38, found at www.va.gov.

Eligibility for most VA benefits is based on active military service discharge under other than dishonorable conditions. Active service means full-time service, other than active duty for training, as a member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or as a commissioned officer of the Public Health Service, Environmental Science Services Administration or National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, or its predecessor, the Coast and Geodetic Survey. Dishonorable and bad conduct discharges may bar VA benefits. Veterans and dependents with an outstanding felony warrant aren’t eligible for benefits.

Important Documents
Those seeking VA benefits for the first time need a copy of their discharge form (DD-214, DD-215, or WWII veteran’s WD form), documenting service dates and type of discharge, or give their name, military service number, and branch and dates of service. Benefits include life insurance, burial expense reimbursement, burial flag, burial in national cemeteries, headstones/markers and certain widow’s/widower’s benefits. The following documents are needed for processing claims related to a veteran’s death:

1. Veteran’s marriage certificate for claims of a surviving spouse.
2. Veteran’s death certificate if the veteran did not die in a VA health care facility.
3. Children’s birth certificates or adoption papers to determine children’s benefits.
4. Veteran’s birth certificate to determine parents’ benefits.

Call a Santa Barbara County Veterans Service Office for information on benefits and services available.

These offices, established by the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors, assist veterans and their dependents in obtaining benefits from federal and state agencies. They assist in submitting claims and provide follow-up, if needed, to assure that you receive the benefits you are entitled to. They provide information and assistance with any claim to the VA. Home visits by a veterans’ representative may be arranged.

The Area Agency on Aging is looking for members to join its Advisory Council.

What is the Advisory Council?
The Advisory Council serves as the principal advocacy body for the elderly by participating in public and media discussions of relevant issues. Mandated by the Older Americans Act, it is a critical link between the Area Agency on Aging and the senior community of Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo Counties. The Advisory Council is responsible for advising the AAA on senior issues and Older Americans Act programs, providing the following key advocacy roles:

- Serve as the “eyes and ears” of local seniors and their caregivers
- Review and comment on policies, programs, and actions that affect seniors
- Communicate with local, state and federally-elected officials, make community presentations, and provide testimony at public hearings

The Advisory Council is comprised of thirty (30) persons who are primarily 60 years or older. Its structure consists of an Executive Committee and ad hoc committees. Criteria for membership include at least one the following:

- Age 60 or over
- Provider of services to older adults
- Need for individual candidate's specific talents
- Low income, disabled or ethnic minority persons
- Veteran Health Care representative

Advisory Council members have the opportunity to review service provision; provide community education on senior issues; conduct forums and workshops; and evaluate and advocate for senior concerns and issues on local, state, and national levels.

What is expected of the Advisory Council Members?
The Advisory Council has written Guidelines which present specific roles and responsibilities. These include, but are not limited to the following:

✓ Attend monthly Advisory Council meetings. Meetings are held the second Friday of each month beginning at 9:30 a.m. in public locations in Santa Maria and Santa Barbara.
✓ Council members may also participate in special task forces and joint committees with the Board of Directors.
✓ Draft an Area Plan to outline the AAA priorities and goals.
✓ Represent the Agency at public forums and local government meetings.
